Summary of Report and Impact Analysis

The food feeding program was initiated to provide support to households during the Holy month of Ramadan. The program aimed to assist destitute individuals, including old women, widows, and families, by providing raw food, cooked meals, and financial stipends to help them celebrate the end of the fasting period. The program targeted a total of 27 communities, benefiting over 1486 individuals, including women, households, beggars, and vulnerable old women.

Objective of the Program

The primary objective of the program was to alleviate food insecurity and financial hardship among vulnerable populations during Ramadan, enabling them to partake in the festivities and celebrations associated with the end of the fasting period.

Program Beneficiaries

- Women
- Households
- Beggars
- Vulnerable old women

Impact

- Reached and assisted over 1486 individuals
- Impacted 27 communities
- Provided support during Ramadan and end -of-fast celebrations

Challenges

While the intervention was commendable, it was noted that a more sustainable plan was needed to reach a larger number of people and create a lasting impact. The key challenge was the one-off nature of the program, emphasizing the necessity for a more sustainable intervention to empower women and uplift families from poverty effectively.

Solution

To address the challenges and create a sustainable impact, the following strategies were proposed:

- Organizing women traders, small business operators, and widows into clusters from different communities
- Providing training on financial literacy, savings, and bookkeeping skills
- Disbursing zero-interest loans to beneficiaries with a six -month tenor

By implementing these strategies and methodologies, the program aims to create a sustainable intervention that not only addresses immediate needs but also fosters long - term empowerment and financial stability within the targeted communities.

We are grateful for the support received so far which has enabled the BMCCI team impacted so much lives in so short a time.

We look forward to having more of this support that would further aid us to impacting humanity.

We look forward to a future working relations.

Yours Sincerely
